

Elevating Districts. Supporting Teachers. Impacting Students.

Every day at IMSE, we work hard to ensure every child can read and to support educators in achieving this goal.

For years, teachers have been led to believe that an implicit method is the best approach for teaching reading; eventually, students will just “pick it up.” Approximately 40% of students can learn to read with this approach, while the rest will either fail to learn to read, spell, and write at all or will fail to do each of these proficiently. (Even the students who appear to learn to read fairly easily are advantaged by explicit instruction, particularly for spelling and writing.)

To promote literacy for all students across all tiers of instruction, teachers need access to a Structured Literacy approach that provides knowledge, tools, and instructional resources backed by the Science of Reading and that take advantage of the best of Orton-Gillingham. At IMSE, we’re on a mission to provide just that.

IMSE works closely with districts to ensure educators have everything they need to ensure every student learns to read, regardless of their starting point. Together, we can make a real difference.

–Jeanne Jeup, Co-Founder and CEO at IMSE

Our Mission

“All children must have the ability to read to fully realize their potential. We are committed to providing teachers with the knowledge and tools to deliver proven literacy education to students of all ages and abilities.”

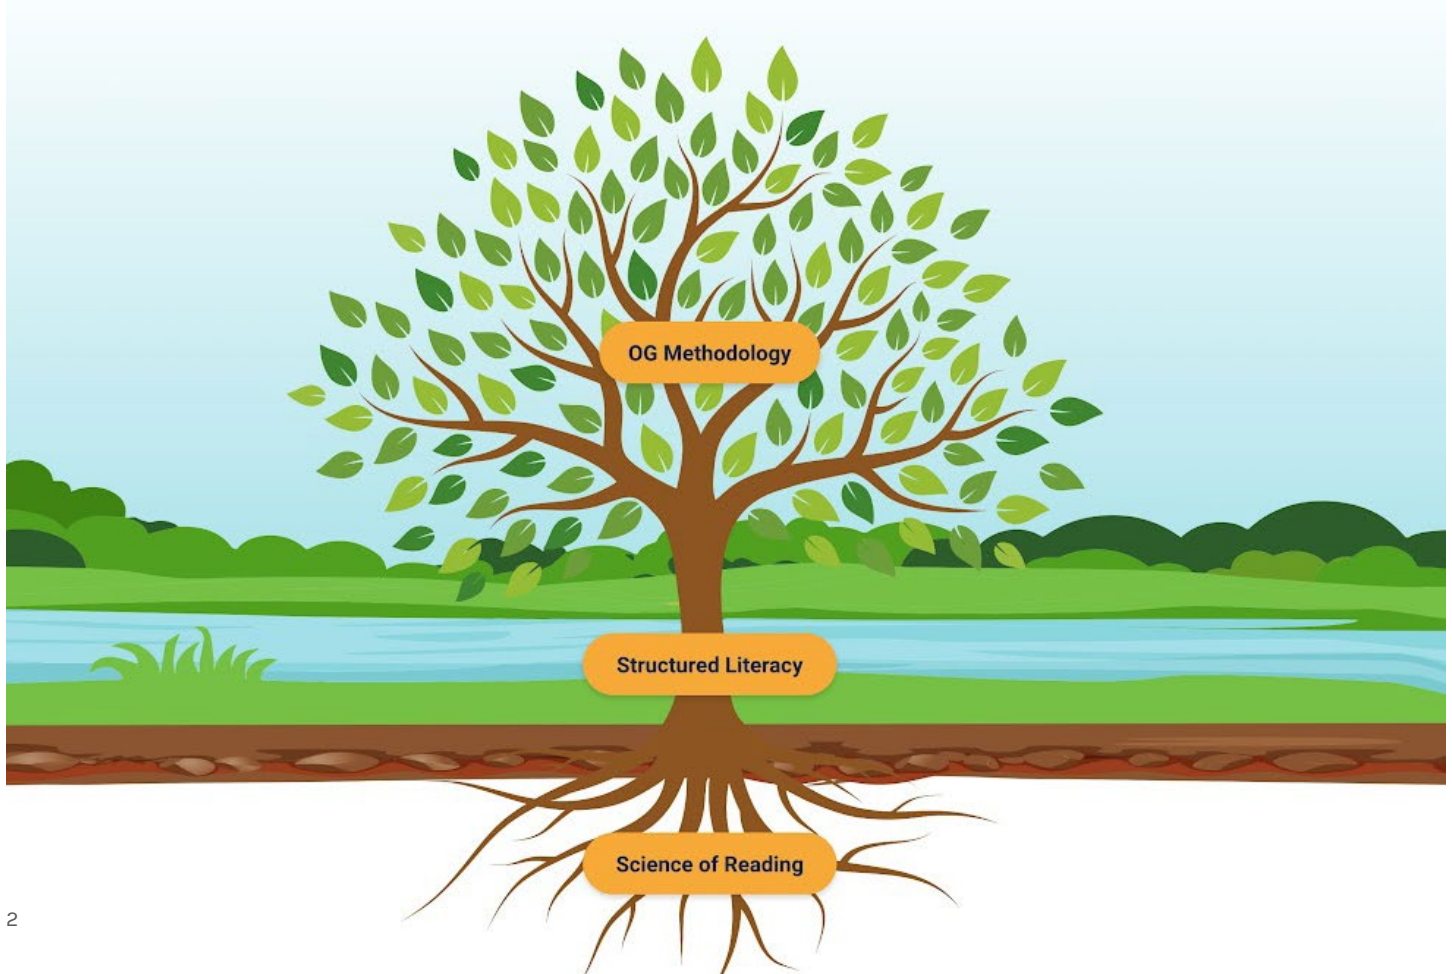

Table of Contents

IMSE sets the standard for Structured Literacy professional development and support. From our hands-on approach to our professional development and our ongoing support of teachers in the classroom, IMSE ensures that teachers are fully prepared to make an immediate impact in their classrooms after training.

IMSE: At the Forefront of Structured Literacy

IMSE has led the way in Structured Literacy professional development for more than 25 years. During this time, we've built a global community of instructors who bring invaluable experience to literacy education, helping millions of students become successful readers.

Districts with IMSE-trained teachers are at the forefront of literacy education, providing equitable literacy instruction to all students with a program that is both steeped in research, yet practical in the classroom.

IMSE's approach to Structured Literacy sets the standard in building literacy knowledge through professional development, an early literacy curriculum with a scope and sequence, a teacher guide, student workbooks, and decodable readers, plus extensive digital resources - creating confident teachers who feel equipped to face the everyday challenges of working with readers at all levels and capabilities.

When districts invest in their educators with the tools, time, and professional development needed to build capacity and achieve proficiency, they are more likely to see consistency and fidelity across their schools, as well as higher teacher retention.

Working with schools and districts in every state, IMSE supports excellence in literacy education, increasing reading proficiency and making a life-changing impact on students across all tiers of instruction.

IMSE Structured Literacy Professional Development

TEACHING THE HOW AND WHY OF STRUCTURED LITERACY

IMSE Structured Literacy Professional Development and Curriculum is firmly rooted in the Science of Reading and the Orton-Gillingham approach, ensuring educators have a solid understanding of the how and the why of Structured Literacy. This approach differs from other programs in both its completeness and its practical application. IMSE's courses provide educators a comprehensive understanding of the Science of Reading and Structured Literacy. With meticulously designed teaching materials and resources, IMSE ensures a seamless implementation that can be put into action right away.

THROUGH EVALUATION, TEACHERS ARE ABLE TO MEET ALL STUDENTS WHERE THEY ARE IN THEIR LITERACY JOURNEY

IMSE's PD is developed and taught by experienced educators who not only have deep expertise, but also understand the foundations of Structured Literacy and are passionate about sharing their knowledge with their peers.

With impactful PD, ongoing support, a robust library of physical and digital materials, and comprehensive certification programs that promote implementation fidelity, IMSE empowers districts and educators to make an impact on student literacy, starting on day one.

IMSE Instructors are unique. Each instructor has used IMSE's Structured Literacy program in their classroom, has completed a year-long practicum, has passed the KPEERI exam, and is CERI-certified at a minimum SLCT (Structured Literacy Classroom Teacher) level. In addition, IMSE instructors hold a master's degree in an educational field.

“From Winter 2020 to Winter 2022, there has been a 35% increase in our Kindergarten classrooms’ reading proficiency across the entire district! Our teachers are not building readers to take a test; We are building skilled readers for life!”

–Jennifer Sjodin, Head of Multi-Tiered System of Support, ISD 318, Grand Rapids, MN

KINDERGARTEN OVERALL READING SKILLS

ALL LEARNERS. ALL TIERS.

IMSE supports all tiers of instruction, providing consistency throughout the classroom, school and district. When implemented in the general education classroom, IMSE helps reduce the need for costly intervention programs by providing teachers with the knowledge, resources, and expertise to close instructional gaps for students.

Tier 1	90 minutes of instruction per day, including 30 minutes of IMSE OG in the general education classroom with benchmark assessment at the beginning, middle, and end of the academic year
Tier 2	A minimum of 10-18 weeks of 30-minute per day instruction 3x/week in addition to 90 minutes of core instruction with progress monitoring monthly or bimonthly
Tier 3	A minimum of 20 weeks of 45-120 minutes of intensive instruction delivered by a special education teacher or interventionist 5 times per week with progress monitoring weekly or biweekly

FLEXIBLE PROGRAMS TO FIT EVERY SCHEDULE

Take Your District's Literacy Training to the Next Level

IMSE offers three tiers of certification to help take your district's literacy knowledge and training to the next level. Each of our advanced trainings – IMSE Fidelity Courses, IMSE Orton-Gillingham Certification, or becoming an IMSE District Instructor – benefits anyone who teaches literacy: general and special education teachers, ESL and EL teachers, speech-language pathologists, reading specialists, tutors, and more.

IMSE Fidelity Courses (15 hours) – $375

The IMSE Fidelity Courses support educators and districts in ensuring that both IMSE Comprehensive OG+ and IMSE Morphology+ strategies are implemented with fidelity. Participants advance through modules that include implementation videos in various settings, additional strategies and lesson variations that can be used in their current reading program, step-by-step assessment administration videos, and more.

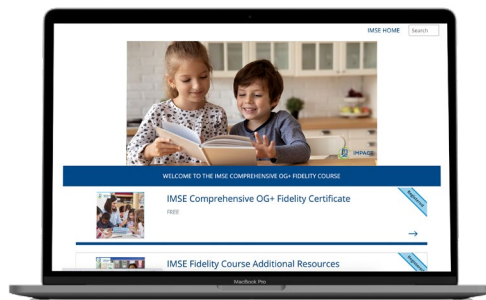

In addition to being stand-alone courses, the Fidelity Courses can be considered a jump-start for an IMSE Practicum. The Fidelity Courses are required components of the IMSE Practicums, but they can also be completed prior to beginning a practicum. *If participants are accepted into an IMSE practicum within two years of completing the corresponding Fidelity course, the $375 fee will be deducted from the practicum fee, and the 15 hours will be applied to the practicum.

Comprehensive OG+ Fidelity Course

The IMSE Comp OG+ Fidelity Course takes a deeper dive into each IMSE OG strategy. Participants watch videos of these strategies implemented with students in various classroom settings and gain knowledge needed for consistent implementation of IMSE OG strategies.

THERE ARE 8 REQUIRED MODULES IN THIS COURSE

- Assessment
- Phonological Awareness
- Three-Part Drill
- Teaching a New Concept and Dictation
- Red Words
- Syllabication
- Comprehension, Vocabulary, & Fluency
- Dyslexia

Morphology+ Fidelity Course

The IMSE Morphology+ Fidelity Course supports educators in implementing IMSE Morphology Plus strategies with fidelity.

THERE ARE 4 REQUIRED MODULES IN THIS COURSE

- Assessment
- Three-Part Drill
- Teaching a New Concept (includes application)
- Comprehension, Vocabulary, & Fluency

Engaging and Informative Webinars

KEEP YOUR EDUCATORS AT THE CUTTING EDGE OF LITERACY

In today's fast-paced and ever-evolving educational landscape, staying informed and continuously improving as literacy educators is more crucial than ever.

IMSE's literacy webinars – Building Up Literacy and Digging into Literacy – serve as a vital platform for professional development, offering valuable insights, practical strategies, and cutting-edge research in the field of literacy instruction. By attending our webinars, your educators gain access to a wealth of knowledge and expertise from Science of Reading experts, experienced IMSE educators, and leaders in literacy education.

BUILDING UP LITERACY

Our Building Up Literacy webinar series features IMSE-trained educators speaking on a wide range of literacy topics pertaining to Orton-Gillingham, Structured Literacy, and the Science of Reading. Educators can discover innovative teaching techniques, explore evidence-based practices, and expand their instructional toolkits to meet the diverse needs of their students.

DIGGING INTO LITERACY

Our Digging into Literacy webinar series features literacy leaders and experts. This series is designed to provide valuable insight and knowledge to enhance the understanding of effective literacy instruction. Each webinar session features renowned industry leaders who delve into a specific topic and share their expertise, research, and practical strategies.

Fostering a Community of Educators

HELP CREATE A LASTING IMPACT

IMSE connects educators from across the country through trainings and online communities, creating a supportive network where ideas and best practices can be shared. We nurture these relationships through our social media channels, monthly newsletters, Freebie Fridays, and regular giveaways.

IMSE SOCIAL MEDIA COMMUNITIES

Building a supportive and collaborative community is important for educators. IMSE's social media communities serve as valuable platforms for connecting, sharing, and learning. Through our social media channels, educators can engage in discussions, ask questions, and exchange ideas with a network of thousands of like-minded professionals.

MONTHLY NEWSLETTER

IMSE newsletters are a valuable resource that keep educators up-to-date with timely and relevant information. As a result, districts can better stay ahead of the curve, foster professional growth among their educators, and ultimately provide the best possible literacy education for their students.

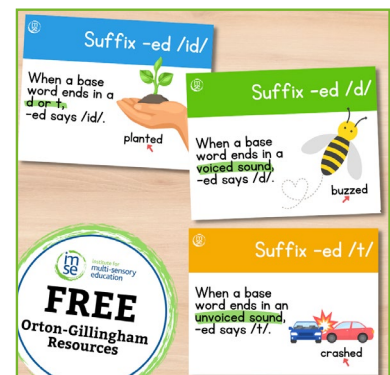

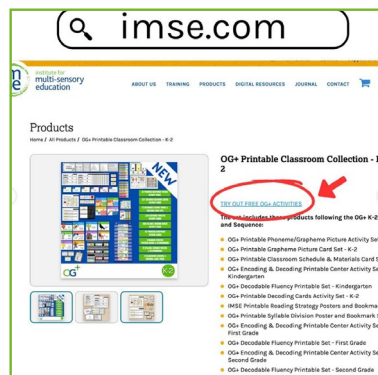

FREEBIE FRIDAY AND GIVEAWAYS

Working within a limited budget is hard, which is why IMSE is committed to supporting educators with our weekly "Freebie Friday" resources. These resources are carefully curated to provide educators with practical tools, materials, and ideas that can be implemented in the classroom at no cost to them. Additionally, we regularly host giveaways of our IMSE Structured Literacy Professional Development and Curriculum, giving "lucky" educators the opportunity to access high-quality resources and training free of charge.

"I use IMSE's free digital and downloadable resources to supplement my small group phonics instructions. My students and I absolutely love them. Thank you for supporting my instruction!"

–Natalie, IMSE Trained Educator

Partnering for District Success

With a deep commitment to transforming literacy outcomes, IMSE goes beyond providing teacher training and implementation tools. As educators, we understand that sustained success requires ongoing support and collaboration with educators, administrators, and districts.

Our team of experts will collaborate to identify areas of improvement, develop strategies for implementation all while keeping the district's vision and mission at the forefront.

IMSE provides districts with the ability to invest in their teachers' knowledge base with a comprehensive Structured Literacy Professional Development and Curriculum. It doesn't end with your educators; we also provide additional support to districts and administrators through our Comprehensive OG+ Administrators Course.

IMSE's Structured Literacy approach has supported success for districts of all sizes, ensuring literacy initiatives are effective, equitable, and yield measurable results. Our goal is to empower districts to overcome challenges and create a culture of literacy excellence that ultimately leads to improved outcomes for all students.

By fostering a culture of continuous improvement, IMSE is on a mission to improve literacy instruction, increase reading proficiency, and make the greatest impact on students across all Tiers of instruction.

“IMSE continues to be one of the best investments we’ve made for our teachers and students! For five years now, our teachers have received the benefits of training and coaching, not on a program, but on how children learn to read and what they can do to support the process. One of the aspects that attracted me to IMSE was that I wasn’t buying a program, I was investing in training for the teachers that would enhance their instruction. It was a mindset change that wasn’t wrapped around a boxed kit.”

–Barbara Wilchensky Bridgeton Public Schools, NJ

Comprehensive OG + Administrators Course

This asynchronous course provides administrators with the information needed to support educators as they implement the IMSE OG approach. Southwest Local School District Kindergarten Tier Transition

When the school year began in 2022, 16 Southwest Local School District Kindergarten students in Ohio were all at high risk when it came to literacy. After just one school year of utilizing IMSE's OG strategies, only 3 students were still marked as high risk with the other 11 students transitioning to moderate or low risk.
